

Capitalization event: share your results and cooperate with others

Dear Sir/Madam,

In view of your participation in the capitalization event on “Economic growth, innovation processes and human capital in the Mediterranean area” in Athens on 15th of December, we would like to invite you to contribute to the group works scheduled in the afternoon.

Participants will have the opportunity to share in-depth insights into the results already achieved (and/or expected shortly), namely pilot actions implemented, local/international agreements, and mainstreaming actions.

Emerging synergies and complementarities are expected to be shared among projects and fully exploited.

In order to facilitate the group works, we kindly ask you to fill in the following table. Please submit only one form per project and return it to : enpi.communication@regione.sardegna.it within Wednesday, 25th November.

We thank you for your kind cooperation!

Key results achieved (see your Logical Framework) and deliverables: max 5 lines for each item

- Pilot actions

Pilot actions are embedded in the project's cross border framework and are implemented at the local level in the partner regions in order to test the use of a particular methodology, technology, concept, model or tool that was developed within the project. Pilot actions therefore have the ability to link theoretical concepts with actual practice and implementation.

Please specify type of actions (brief description), location, impact (e.g. young people trained, jobs created etc.) quantified target groups and population involved.

- Local/international agreements

Please describe any agreement signed/to be signed under the project which has the potential to ensure the sustainability/exploitation of results achieved. This can also include joint agreements signed with other cooperation projects. Agreements should highlight how project results will be exploited and used by other stakeholders at regional and national level.

- Mainstreaming actions and potential links with public policies development

Please describe actions implemented by your project in order to connect outcomes to the development of sector public policies at all levels, through mainstreaming activities involving national and regional public authorities. This paragraph should reflect to what extent project outcomes can contribute to or integrate the design of public policies, regional strategies or local action plans.

CAPITALIZATION EVENT

“ECONOMIC GROWTH, INNOVATION PROCESSES AND HUMAN CAPITAL DEVELOPMENT IN THE MEDITERRANEAN AREA”

AGENDA

15 DECEMBER 2015

ATHENS

VENUE TO BE CONFIRMED

Context

When Europe's neighbours do well, so does Europe. The understanding that competitive, economically productive countries make the best trading partners is one of the driving motivations for the Programme to fund a major segment of projects which focus on economic growth and territorial development.

Competitive and innovative economies also need qualified and skilled manpower. Hard-working individuals who are interested in progress to develop the Mediterranean area and its communities and work for a better future. That's why several projects of the ENPI CBC Med aim at encouraging the development of human capital, investing on our most precious resource: people.

This capitalization event aims at analyzing and discussing key results achieved by the projects financed under ENPI CBC MED Programme 2007-2013, in view of identifying good practices and common valuable approaches. Complementarities and synergies of results achieved among the implemented projects will be highlighted while discussions will also explore how project outcomes can be connected to the development of sector public policies, through mainstreaming actions involving national and regional public authorities.

The final aim of the event is to foster discussion among participants regarding a cluster-based strategy to contribute to broad challenges at Mediterranean level, including business and SMEs development, innovation acceleration, support to employment and professional skills acquisition.

The 25 projects belonging to the "Economic growth and territorial development" are divided into the following areas:

- Economic growth and innovation processes;
- Territorial development and local governance;
- Maritime transport.

The 11 projects included in the "Human capital" cluster concern the following topics:

- Support to employment and professionalization;
- Social inclusion.

Since some of the projects have already ended their implementation period, the event will concentrate on the following three areas: economic growth and business development; innovation processes; human capital.

For more information on concerned projects, please consult our brochures on "Economic growth and territorial development" and "Human capital".

Evening 15.00 - 18.30

Group works. During the evening session, all participants will share in-depth insights into those results that could be (further) integrated and/or jointly capitalized. The aim is to discuss synergies and complementarities among projects with a view to contributing to broad socio-economic challenges in the Mediterranean area.

Groups of around 15 persons each will discuss how to integrate their results and capitalization strategies for optimal closure and follow-up. Contributions are expected from all participants.

The focal points for discussions will be:

- Pilot actions implemented
- Local/international agreements signed or expected to be signed
- Potential impact on public policies/mainstreaming actions
